BILLS OF LOCAL IMPORTANCE LOST

Park Commission Appropriation and Virginia Plot Improvement not Passed.

RESULT OF FILIBUSTER

Purchase of Trolley Line would have been Accomplished but for this Event. The Next Step.

Gettysburg had a real local interest in the filibuster which marked the close of Congress, for the "talking to death" of the armed merchantman measure also killed in a similar manner the annual appropriation for the work of the National Park Commission, the appropriation asked for the improvement of the grounds about the Virginia monument, and the $30,000 appropriation for the purchase of the trolley right-of-way on the battlefield. All of these measures were due for passage and would have been given favorable action, it is said, if the filibuster had not occupied the closing hours of the Senate session and thus held up much legislation which was almost absolutely necessary.

Four of the most important bills of the session got no final action as a result of the filibuster. These were the Sundry Civil bill, the Army bill, the West Point Academy appropriation bill, and the General Deficiency bill.

The usual appropriation for the work of the National Park Commission and that for the improvement of the grounds about the Virginia monument were included in the Sundry Civil bill, which had passed the House. When it failed of final passage in the Senate the result was inevitable that no funds would be provided for fixing the Virginia plot before the dedication of the monument on June 8th. If the work is done—which now seems most improbable—the funds will have to be secured in some other way.

June 30th marks the close of the fiscal year of the National Park Commission and no funds are now provided for work beyond that time. It is probable that a special session may be called when measures to include these two appropriations will be enacted.

Regarding the plan to pay $30,000 for the trolley right-of-way—which was fully outlined in these columns some time ago—a Senate amendment was proposed to the Army bill which would provide this sum. The measure had passed the House without the trolley matter included, and this would then have sent the bill into conference, but those who were championing the proposition for the Government to acquire this land had every assurance that it would get favorable action and go through without any difficulty.

Unless some outside concern takes over the trolley line before the probable special session it is likely that the same method will be used to secure the $30,000 appropriation then and the line will then be taken up outside of the borough.

The four bills above named were among the most urgent that were before the Senate and the measure which has fallen upon certain Senators for successfully conducting the campaign against the bill authorizing the President to arm merchant ships, is in some part caused by the fact that their action prevented this other legislation being enacted.

WILL DELAY ACTION

HEAR TESTIMONY

Seventy Five Hundred the Amount Claimed by Miss Seiss.

Taking of testimony in the case of Mamie R. Seiss against Dr. M. A. Birely, a suit for $7,500 damages for alleged defective hearing, following treatment of an ear, was resumed in Frederick County Court Thursday.

Dr. Birely finished his testimony. He said Miss Seiss was deaf when he began to treat her and also stated that he never held himself out as being an ear specialist. He denied using a knife in treating the ear.

The case was followed by leading physicians who were summoned to testify, and much interest was manifested by these in the testimony. Just before concluding the cross examination Mr. Dennis asked Dr. Hammond "whether he claimed to have supernatural powers in diagnosing ailments." The witness replied that he "thought such a question was too ridiculous to be answered."

A delegation of at least one hundred members of the Daughters of the American Revolution from the states of Iowa, Illinois, Indiana, and other parts of the Middle West will come to Gettysburg on April 15th for a tour of the battlefield. This will likely be the first large party of the 1917 tourist season.

The delegation will be on its way to Washington to attend the annual national convention, and it is the plan to arrive here in the morning, by an early train, to spend several hours on the battlefield, take dinner at one of the hotels, and follow this with a further trip. Two special services will be held during their brief stay here.

The first of these will take place during the morning trip when an address will be delivered in the National Cemetery by a member of the Sons of the American Revolution who will accompany the Daughters on their trip here. The second service will be held in the Presbyterian church at noon and a brief religious and patriotic program will be rendered.

It is the plan to have the battlefield trip taken by automobile and twenty or twenty five machines will be required to accommodate the entire party. At the present time it is not known whether they will come on a regular train or by their own private special, nor is it known by which road they expect to reach Gettysburg.

Some further entertainment may also be provided here for the visitors if their stay is long enough to permit this being done.

The child was immediately taken to the office of Dr. H. S. Crouse, in Littlestown, where it was found that the eye ball was badly blistered. Whether or not the sight is destroyed cannot be told at this time.

EVERYTHING THERE

All Parts Necessary for Thriller in this Show.

Those who enjoy the typical melodrama should have been pleased with "A Little Girl in a Big City" which played to a small audience at the Lincoln Way Theatre Thursday night. There were plenty of heart throbs, the villain, a heroine, and all the other necessary characters. Yes, and the papers too, were there—small as they happened to be. There was plenty to worry about and a bit of comedy now and then to relieve the tension. But it was scarcely what one might call a cheerful way to spend an evening.

Thirty-two of the sixty-five teachers are known to have signed the round robin. Expressions from the other teachers cannot be had.

PASTOR HOME

Favorable Report at Baltimore Institution on Dr. Oyley's Condition.

Dr. R. S. Oyley returned home on Thursday evening from Baltimore where he was under treatment the past week at the Church Home and Infirmary. Dr. Friedenwald was in special charge of Dr. Oyley's case and after a careful examination stated that he was suffering from no organic trouble. The treatment and encouraging report of the physician has done much for the popular pastor of the Methodist church.

PLAN HOSPITAL FOR WAYNESBORO

Do not Regard Favorably Manner of Conducting Chambersburg Institution.

Waynesboro people have for a long while felt the need of a hospital, and now formal action has been taken to secure such an institution. Emergency cases are taken either to Hagerstown or Chambersburg, and because of friction among the physicians of Franklin county the Chambersburg hospital has never been popular with Waynesboro physicians and people.

It is contended that the hospital in Chambersburg, which is under the control of the Childrens Aid Society, of Franklin county, is a close corporation, the directorate perpetuating itself and the staff being composed of physicians subservient to interests other than those of the public generally. While the contention of the Waynesboro physicians, and physicians from other parts of the county as well, that these conditions exist is not supported by the hospital authorities, it is nevertheless true that the Waynesboro opposition to the Chambersburg hospital does exist, and Waynesboro people, therefore, believe that their town, with its 10,000 inhabitants and other thousands living in the neighborhood, and with a population that is largely industrial, that their prime need is a well equipped hospital.

Just how the hospital agitation in Waynesboro will be worked out remains to be seen, but it is a safe prediction that the hospital in Waynesboro will be an established fact before very long. The men in charge of the Waynesboro Relief Association are the leaders in manufacturing and banking circles in the town. The president is J. J. Oiler, the vice president is John G. Corbett, the secretary is John G. Benedict, and the treasurer is D. W. Hess.

It became known at the meeting of the relief association that several well-to-do Waynesboro people had recently made their wills, and in them had made bequests to the town to be handled by the relief association.

START FEEDING STUFF ARRESTS

State Agents Land Several Men Accused of having Sold "Loaded" Material.

ONE PROSECUTION HERE

Name not Revealed but Infringement of the Law is Said to have been Found in Adams County.

Sixteen prosecutions against dealers who were selling feeding stuffs that were falsely guaranteed and adulterated, including one in Adams County, have been ordered by Secretary of Agriculture Charles E. Patton. The name of the Adams County dealer has not been made public.

Four samples of turpentine were found to be adulterated with mineral spirits and two samples of linseed oil, representing shipments into the State were found to be adulterated with mineral oil. Prosecutions were ordered in each case.

Under the pure feed and turpentine and linseed oil acts it is the duty of the Department of Agriculture to prevent deception in the sale of these products. Samples are taken by the agents of the Department in all sections of the State and along with samples sent in by purchasers they are turned over to the Bureau of Chemistry, where they are carefully analyzed to ascertain whether the various ingredients are up to the standard guaranteed and whether there are any adulterations or additions to increase weight or capacity.

Six kinds of cottonseed meal were found to be falsely guaranteed for protein and contained excessive amounts of cottonseed hulls. Two samples of refuse middlings were falsely guaranteed and adulterated with ground cornbobs. Two samples of meat meal were low in the protein guaranteed and there were six cases where poultry and dairy feeds were improperly guaranteed.

The feeds were sold and the prosecutions brought in the following counties: Adams, Chester, Delaware, Luzerne, Lawrence, Washington, Cumberland, Franklin, Tioga, Cambria, Lackawanna, Northampton and Indiana.

The fertilizer bulletin showing the results of the fall inspection work and the ingredients of the principal fertilizers on the Pennsylvania market is now in the printer's hands and will be ready for distribution shortly. The reports of inspection of feeding stuffs, lime, paint, oil and seeds are now being prepared for the past year.

AMENDS RULES

Senate by 76 to 3 Adopts
Cloture.

CRITICISES THE PRESIDENT

Men Who Did Not Sign Manifesto
on Armed Neutrality Bill
Reply to White House
Stricture.

Washington, March 9.—An amendment to the senate rules giving two-thirds of its members the power to prevent filibusters and limit debate was passed by the senate.

The vote was 76 to 3, Senators Gronna, La Follette and Sherman voting against the change.

Debate on the amendment was taken up by the senate under unanimous consent.

Senator Martin, majority leader, in asking unanimous consent, said that by so doing he had no desire to shut off full debate.

"I hoped this rule might be a little more drastic," said Senator Pomeroy. "It is my belief a majority of the senate should be able to limit debate. I am satisfied, however, with the change."

Senator Sherman, one of the two Republicans who voted against the rule in the party caucus, read a portion of President Wilson's statement on the failure of the armed neutrality bill, saying it would be useless to call a special session of congress now to pass that bill, as unless the senate rules were changed, a filibuster could be successfully maintained against it.

"The president," said Senator Sherman, "intentionally seeks to convey to the country the impression that only by a change in the senate rules can the neutrality bill be passed at a special session of congress. That is not practically true, however theoretically it may be sought to make it appear true."

Senator Sherman added that a "portion of the truth was deliberately omitted" from the president's statement.

"I intend to support the armed neutrality bill," he added, "but I do object of the president's wrath in a statement sent out to the general public."

The congestion of legislative business was not referred to in the president's statement, Senator Sherman said, and there was no question in his mind that the bill could be passed within thirty days if the president should call an extra session.

Senator Sherman said he failed to see any reason to be "precipitate" in the matter and pointed to the sinking of the Lusitania nearly two years ago and the sinking of other ships since, to show that the president had not been in a hurry to demand action.

Senator Hollis, Democrat, of New Hampshire, declared the senate took itself too seriously. He moved to amend the proposed cloture rule by providing that a majority instead of a two-thirds vote should end debate, but later withdrew the amendment at the suggestion of Senator Smith, of Georgia, one of the five Democratic conferees who framed the proposed rule.

Senator Norris, Republican, of Nebraska, said he expected to vote for the rule because he had long believed in it and only hesitated because he thought his vote might be misunderstood in view of his opposition to the armed neutrality bill. He said he would not hesitate to attempt to defeat it again.

Indorsement of the cloture rule was given by Senator Stone, of Missouri, chairman of the foreign relations committee, who, however, expressed doubts as to its efficiency. "I wish merely to say that I am in entire sympathy and hearty accord with the proposed rule," he said. "Though the form is not as I would have written it—it should be stricter—I am willing to accept it."

Copenhagen, March 9.—Commenting on President Wilson's declarations to congress and the American nation, the Berliner Tageblatt expresses the belief that President Wilson wants war. ZIMMERMANN IN PLOT Ordered von Igel to Give the Conspirators $60,000.

New York, March 9.—Evidence designed to show that Dr. Chandra Chakraborty, a Hindoo physician, and Ernest Sekanna, a German chemist, received more than $60,000 from Wolf von Igel, a member of the staff of Count von Bernstorff, former German ambassador in the United States, upon the order of Dr. Alfred Zimmermann, German foreign minister, with which to foment a rebellion in India, was presented to a special federal grand jury here.

The information was contained in papers confiscated in the government's raid on von Igel's office in Wall street while seeking evidence in the plot against the Welland canal. The papers were officially used by the government for the first time, their utilization having been heretofore prevented by the vigorous protests of Count von Bernstorff.

Although the papers had been taken from the jurisdiction of the local federal courts to Washington, Count von Bernstorff failed to take advantage of the attorney general's offer to return any papers identified by him as official documents. As a result the papers are at the disposal of the government.

ORDER GUNS TO AVIATORS

Pennsylvania Guard Equipment Will be Sent to Buffalo.

Harrisburg, Pa., March 9.—In accordance with orders from the war department, Adjutant General Stewart directed that twenty-one of the machine guns now in possession of infantry regiments of the national guard be sent to Buffalo for use in aviation work.

The guns are to be replaced as soon as possible with the new issue of machine guns by the war department. There are about thirty-six machine guns now in use by the national guard of Pennsylvania.

The national guard headquarters will publish, in a few days, the general orders of the bureau of military affairs for platoons of infantry organizations to be stationed in the smaller towns which are not large enough for a whole company. No plans to apply the order in this state have been announced.

Dover, Del., March 9.—The bill introduced by Senator Pool to increase the compensation of members of the general assembly from $300 to $600 for the sixty days of the session was passed by a majority of one vote in the senate.

Several senators argued for the increase. Senator Pool declared "that with the present high cost of living it would soon take a day's pay for a breakfast."

The senate also passed the bill establishing a license of $1.10 for gunners in cities and towns, land owners and farmers being exempt.

Half Dollar Gold Plated.

Philadelphia, March 9.—A report that a gold-plated half-dollar has been passed in the financial district as a $20 gold piece has put secret service men and bankers on the lookout. A slight similarity in the design of the two coins made this substitution possible.

Bad Weather on West Front.

Paris, March 9.—Spirited artillery actions continued during the night between the Oise and the Aisne, says the official report. The French took prisoners in raids in Lorraine and in an unsuccessful German attack on French positions at Seppelose-le-Haut, Alsace.

GUTHRIE DEAD IN JAPAN

The State Department Gets Word of the Death of U. S. Ambassador, Former Mayor of Pittsburgh.

London, March 9.—Count Ferdinand Zeppelin, inventor of the famous dirigible, is dead, according to a despatch from Berlin transmitted by Reuters' Amsterdam correspondent.

Count Zeppelin died at Charlottenburg, near Berlin, from inflammation of the lungs. He was in his seventy-ninth year.

Scion of a wealthy family of ancient lineage, Count Zeppelin was born in Constance, Baden, on July 8, 1838. As a youth he was trained for a soldier's career. He fought through the Austro-Prussian and the Franco-Prussian wars, and is said to have been the first German soldier to cross the frontier into France in the last-named conflict. Serving in the German cavalry for three decades, he rose to a rank of general at the age of forty-two. He retired ten years later a distinguished soldier.

Strange to say, it was in the United States that Count Zeppelin made his first balloon ascension. It occurred while he was following General Carl Schurz in the civil war as a military observer for the German army. A captive balloon in use for military observations by Union troops greatly interested the young German officer, and he was taken up in it in 1863.

He began to study and experiment in earnest soon after arriving in Germany from the civil war. Except for the time demanded in routine military duties, and for a year spent in honeymooning with his bride, who was a girl of the German nobility, he spent the remainder of his life in building flying contrivances that, for the most part, refused to fly.

From a wealthy nobleman, owning vast estates, Count Zeppelin was gradually reduced to an aristocrat mechanic living in a humble cottage on an allowance supplied by his friends. He met many narrow escapes from death, and disaster repeatedly overtook his airships. These became so frequent that part paragraphs began to appear in the German papers in ridicule of his efforts.

Then in a day the tide turned. He electrified a sceptical world in 1908 by staying aloft for thirty-seven hours in the fifth airship he had built, and by sailing it in a straight course for a distance of nearly 900 miles. Emperor William, and all Germany, in fact, hailed him as "the conqueror of the air."

This balloon, 465 feet long and of the rigid type and resembling a huge cigar, soon met with disaster as had its predecessors. Each wreck was a great financial loss, for Zeppelin's balloons were valued as high as $500,000 each. These disasters also proved the affection in which the German people held the aristocratic aviator.

G. W. GUTHRIE DIES IN TOKIO

State Department Gets Word of Death of Ambassador.

Washington, March 9.—George W. Guthrie, of Pittsburgh, American ambassador at Tokio, is dead, according to a despatch to the state department from the embassy at Tokio.

Mr. Guthrie's death occurred, according to Post Wheeler, secretary of the embassy at Tokio, at eight o'clock P. M. Thursday. Death was due to apoplexy. Mrs. Guthrie was at Tokio with the ambassador.

(Mr. Guthrie was appointed to the Japanese embassy on May 20, 1913.)

George W. Guthrie, who was sixty-six years old on September 5, was of Scotch ancestry, his forebears having left Scotland during the reign of Charles II, to move to the northern part of Ireland. The branch of the family from which Mr. Guthrie is descended came to America in 1741. His great-great-grandfather was an officer in the revolutionary war.

Ambassador Guthrie was educated in the public schools in Pittsburgh and later entered the Western University, graduating in 1866. He entered a business office to acquire certain knowledge that he desired and then he became a law student in the office of Robert J. Walber, in Washington, D. C. He was graduated from the Law School of Columbia College in 1869 and was then admitted to the bar in Washington. He returned to Pittsburgh and was admitted to practice in the Allegheny county courts November 5, 1869, and soon took a high rank in his profession.

In the municipal affairs of Pittsburgh Mr. Guthrie took an active interest. He was nominated for mayor of the city in 1896, and although defeated, his vote showed that he had the confidence of a large number of voters. Few residents of Pittsburgh have taken a more active part in efforts to improve municipal conditions than Mr. Guthrie.

Mr. Guthrie was married on December 2, 1886, to Florence J. Howe, daughter of the late Thomas M. Howe, of Pittsburgh.

TAKES FLAG FROM THIS PRISONER

Amos H. Paulhs, 70 Years Old, of York, Held Under the New Act of Congress.

Charged under the new act of Congress with threatening to do bodily harm to President Wilson, Amos H. Paulhs, 70 years old, of York, was held in $1,000 bail Thursday afternoon by United States Commissioner Supplee in Baltimore for the action of the Federal Grand Jury.

Paulhs is the first man to be arrested under the new act, which was passed by Congress and approved by President Wilson on February 14 last. Throughout the proceedings Paulhs professed his innocence, saying that he had no intentions of harming the President.

Shortly before being taken to the Commissioner's office, the United States Marshall saw the man pin a small American flag to the lapel of his coat. When he was before Commissioner Supplee he repeatedly pushed the lapel toward the magistrate to display the flag. After he had been held for the action of the Grand Jury, the Marshall took the flag away from him on the ground that he was not worthy to wear the American emblem.

Walter B. R. Wright, son of Capt. Charles E. Wright, of the Secret Service Department stationed in Baltimore, was at Union Station on Saturday morning, where he was stationed as special officer for the Pennsylvania Railroad. Mr. Wright said Paulhs came into the station very much excited and bought a ticket for Washington. The old man rushed to the gates, but when he was told that his train was gone, he began to abuse the officials and said he would be late in performing his mission.

Mr. Wright said Paulhs told him he belonged to the Cross and Crown Society, and that at a meeting of the society he had been chosen to kill President Wilson. It was further alleged that he was to meet a man in Washington, at Tennessee avenue and D street, Northwest, where he was to obtain $15,000 to carry out his plans. At this place he was also to receive his instructions and weapons to carry out the execution.

The only defense made by the accused was that he was confused and excited, and that while he may have said the things charged by Mr. Wright, still he could not remember them. He declared he had no intention of doing Mr. Wilson any harm. When asked about the book found in his possession, which had some memorandum about the President, Paulhs said the entries must have been written when he was drunk.

Darling Evelyn, she has left us,
Left us, yes for evermore;
But we hope to meet our loved one
On that bright and happy shore.

Thy warm true heart is still;
And on thy young and innocent brow,
Is resting death's cold chill.

Thy hands are clasped upon thy breast,
We kissed thy lovely brow;
And in our aching hearts we know,
We have no darling now.

LITTLE LILLIAN ROMAINE FISHER CAN TALK AGAIN

This attractive little lady is the two year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Fisher, 238 North St., Harrisburg, Pa. Last winter she had an attack of measles, together with a very severe cold. Just at that time Druggist S. J. Wilhelm presented Mr. Fisher with a jar of the Southern "outside" treatment—Vick's VapoRub Salve, which was just then being introduced in Harrisburg, and requested that he give this preparation a thorough trial. Mr. Fisher writes—

"I must say that our baby had such a cold on her chest and in her throat that she could hardly talk, and we could not get her to take anything internally. After we used Vick's VapoRub Salve on her breast and throat at night before going to bed she was entirely relieved."

No family should be without this preparation. It is externally applied, and so can be used freely—it is absorbed through and penetrates the skin, and, in addition, is inhaled as a vapor. It has a hundred uses for the many minor ailments for which every mother is the doctor. Three sizes, 50c, 50c or $1.00.

The maker's name on a used car is only part of the story. The biggest part of the story hinges on WHETHER YOU BUY the used car. Coats and Suits for the Clever Woman

It takes all sorts of figures to make up "woman-kind"—and what an art it is to get the garment, suitable to one's PERSONALITY and correct to a button as to STYLE.

The clever ones among our trade, have caused us to feature the coats and suits made by The H. Black Company, noted as the originators of Young Women's Styles for ALL women.

BEAUCHAMP—the panel effect in the coat to the left is very much to the fore this season; in this youthful coat it isn't merely panels, but the cleverness with which they are employed, giving a sort of yoke effect to the upper part of the garment. The pockets also are laid in between panels, thereby giving the coat a newness not seen in the ordinary garment.

LAVAU—Watch for the copy of this clever idea later in the season. Women have always envied men on warmer days for their unlined coats—the jacket of this suit is unlined, a triumph of women's tailoring here-to-fore declared impossible. You who know Wooltex garments, know that no feat of good tailoring is impossible for The H. Black Company, Makers. Pictured to the right.

In the fruit country, there is a saying that the early robin is the one that gets the sweetest cherries. In selecting a coat or suit the early buyer certainly gets the opportunity for a wider choice.

WANTED

An experienced farmer with family wants to rent farm at once.

Address

"F" CARE TIMES OFFICE.

Face the Facts, Start Today to Think and Save.

It is high time we Americans are facing the serious problems that confront each one of us. It matters not whether your wages are $10 a week or $1000 a week. Though our beloved country is not at war with arms, the fact is we are paying the war bills—and so long as that war lasts the price of butter you eat and bread you spread on the clothes you wear to keep you warm and shoes to protect your feet are going to be high in price, and the longer it lasts the higher everything you eat and wear will go. So the only one thing is left for us to do is to do just what they in Europe have been compelled to do, is to cut out extravagance in eating and in dress. It can't last long, people starving in New York, Philadelphia, and Chicago and we in Gettysburg living on top of the pile. It will sooner or later reach to our doors in Gettysburg.

The tremendous wastes all over the world, the extravagance of our American habit of living on seemingly war prosperity is bound to cause scarcity and higher prices.

As a Shoe Merchant I see this. Paying a week's wages for a pair of fancy shoes that have not the wearing qualities of a good neat black shoe that cost one-fourth as much is money thrown away that we will sadly need for butter, eggs, bread and meat.

As sellers of Shoes, we sell what the people want, of course, but it makes me sick at heart to have to buy and sell a pair of shoes for $5 or $6 that have not $2 worth of wear in them.

Today we are selling one-half our shoes for less than it costs to make them, yet we will not advance a price until our stock of over 200,000 pairs are sold and we are compelled to go into the open market and pay more than we are selling the same shoe for today.

I beseech you spender of money to pause and give serious thought to what you buy, as to whether it's the best you can get for wear and service, whether you buy in any one of our 25 stores or outside.
